As the monument stands a memorial of all that was in the days of long ago, before the stress and storm of nature's forces rent the valley in twain, so may this book ever be a memorial of our high school life in the days when we are far apart.

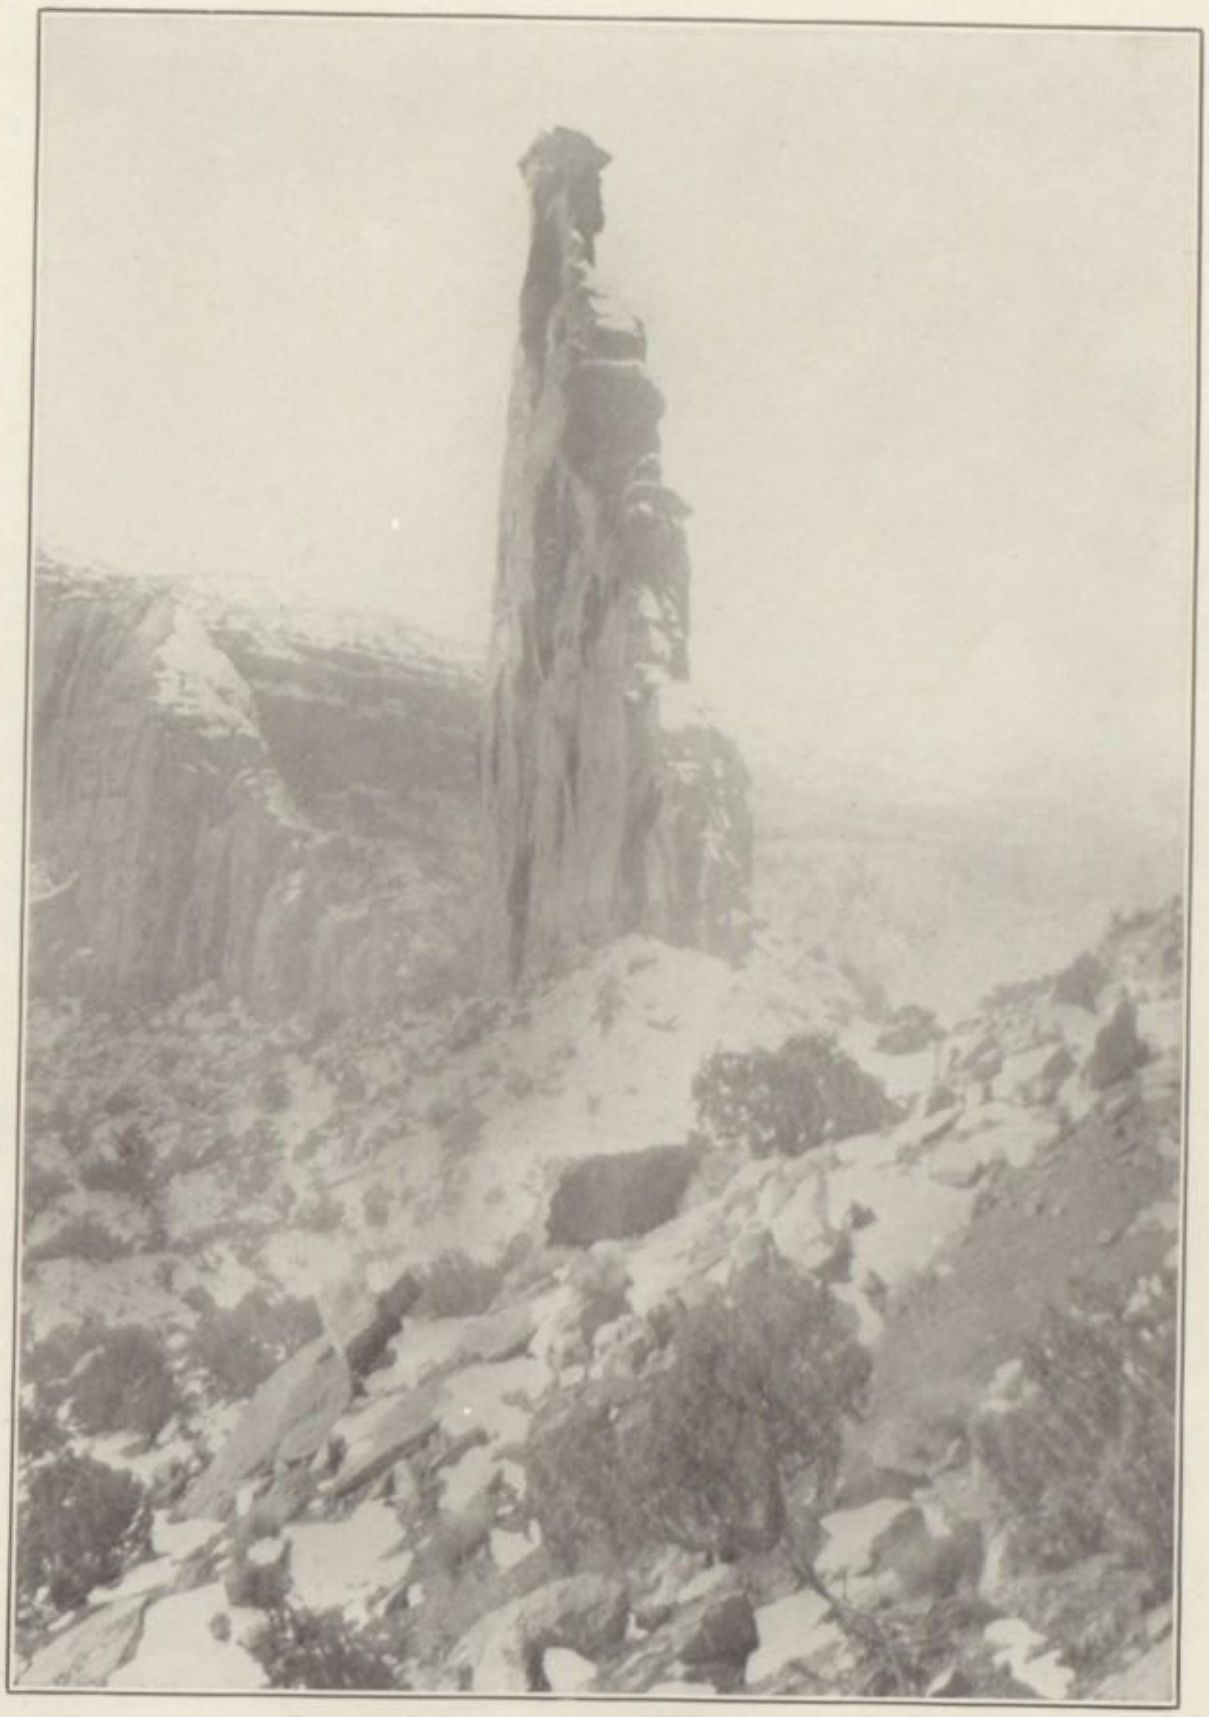
GLEN CALLISON

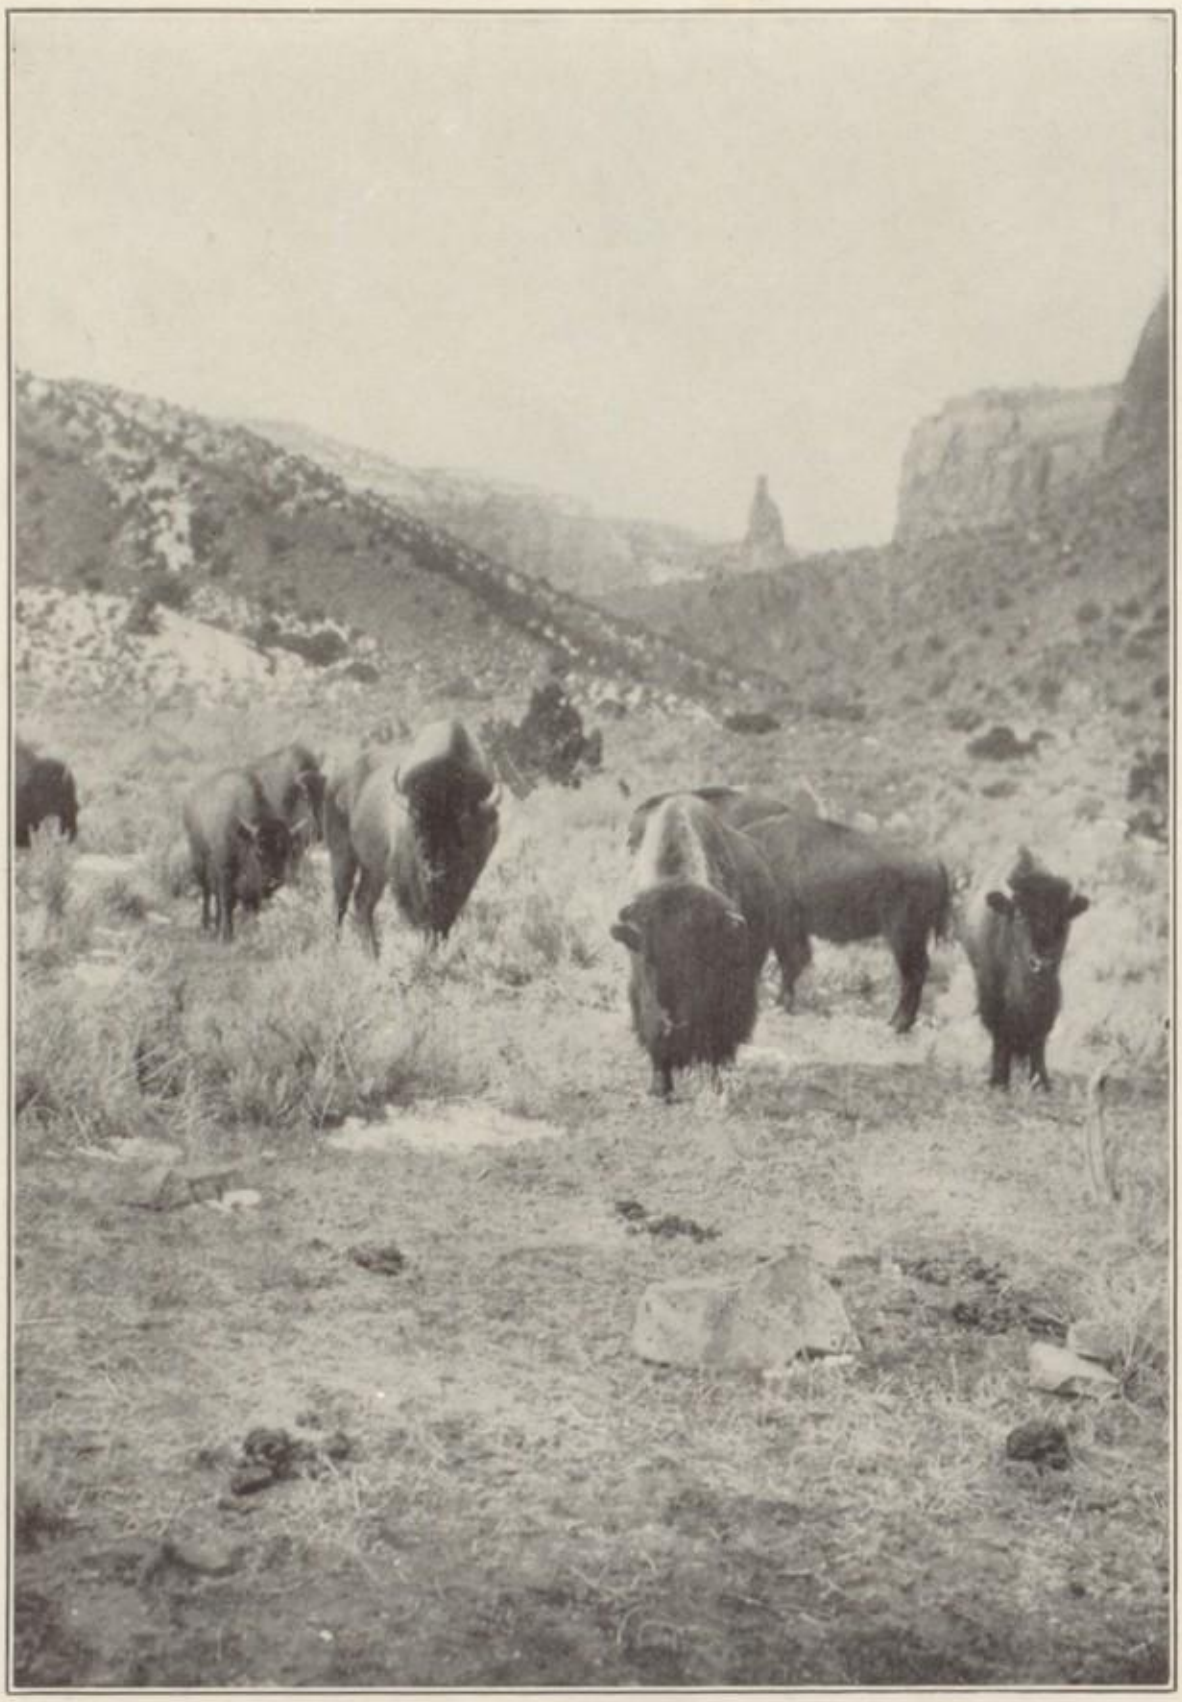
Alas for him who never sees
The stars shine through his cypress trees!
Who, hopeless, lays his dead away,
Nor looks to see the breaking day
Across the mournful marbles play!
Who hath not learned, in hours of faith,
The truth to flesh and sense unknown,
That life is ever Lord of Death,
And Love can never lose its own!

—John Greenleaf Whittier.

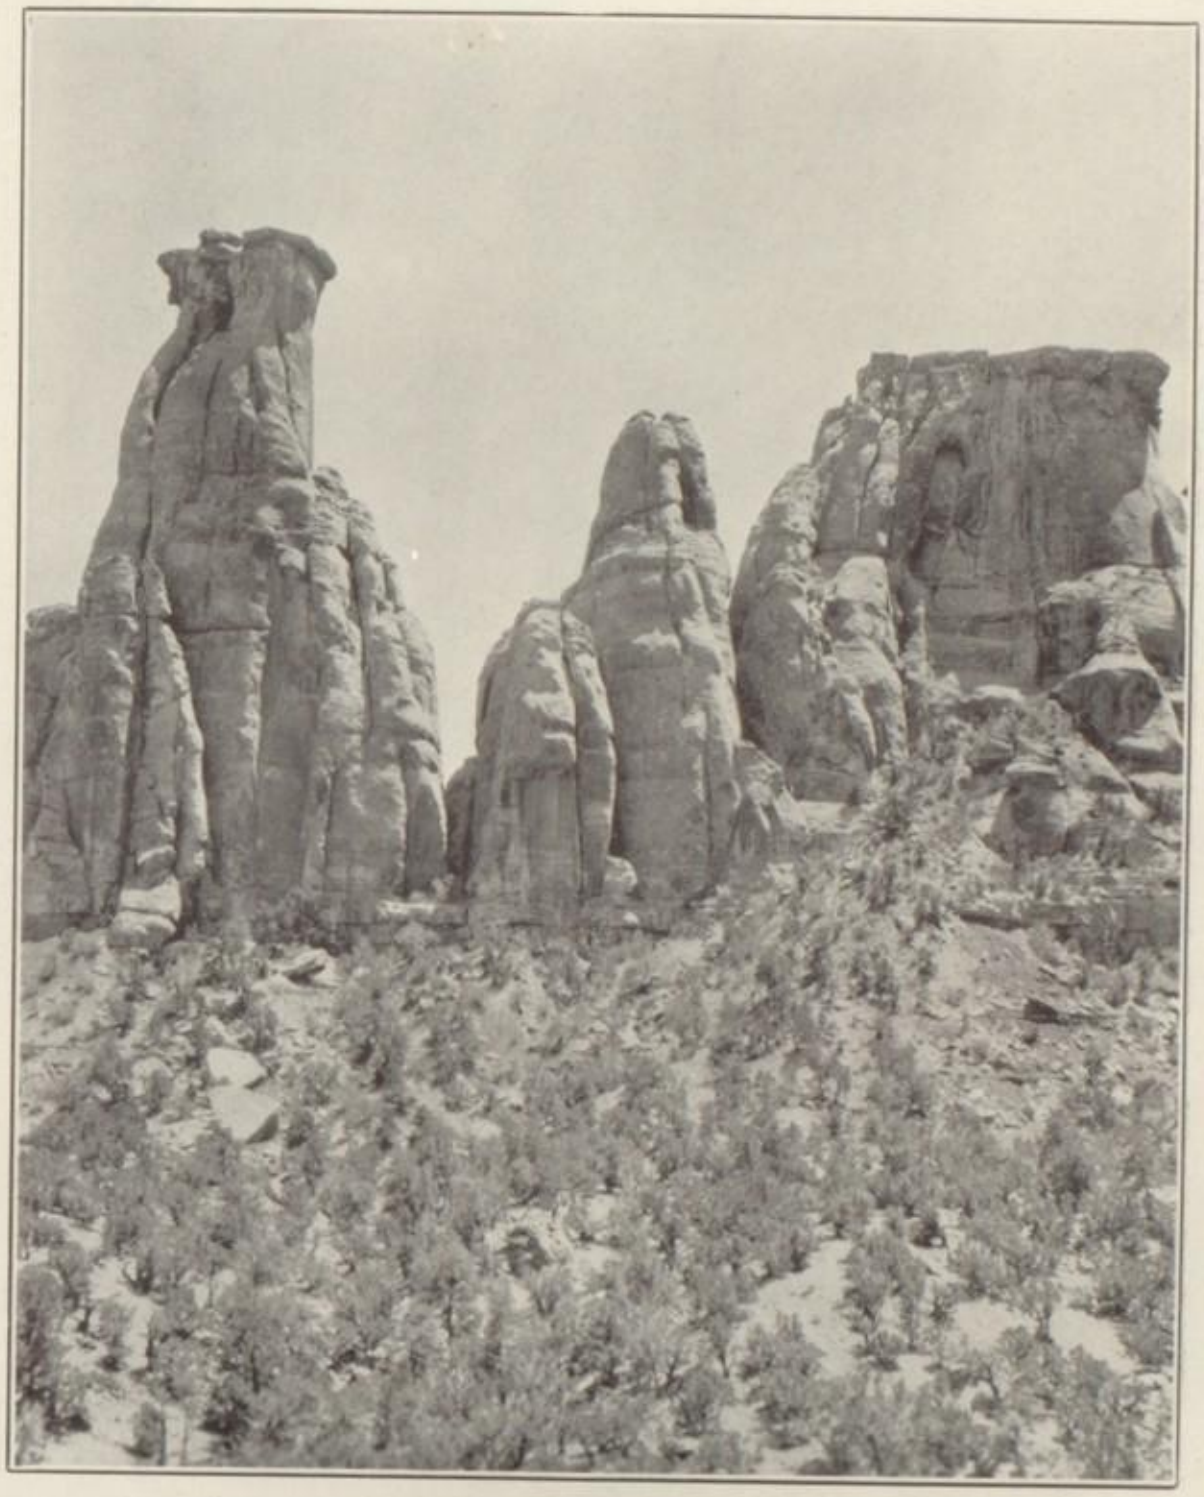
Our Monument



Born in the mystic and far distant past,
Shaped by the chisel of winter's cold blast,
Towering, massive, majestic, sublime,
Proudly defying the ravage of time.



A pitiful few of a once mighty race,
To remind us of folly and greed,
For the thundering herds are vanquished and gone,
With the shades of the vanishing past.



A row of sentinels staunch and firm,
To remind us of ages long past;
May our lives be cast in as sturdy a mold,
And be honest and true to the last.

The Administration

The greatest success in any school results when the teachers and pupils work harmoniously together, sharing one another's interests and co-operating equally.

Such a co-operation marked the success of this last school year. And this co-operation has resulted in a bond of friendship between the faculty and students that will never be severed.

One proof that teachers and students have worked side by side and shared their fun together was the remarkably good spirit shown by the faculty on Senior Slouch Day, and it is just such a spirit that has carried our school year along with fine assemblies, participation and attendance at all extra-curricular activities, and interesting classes.

This spirit shown by the faculty will be remembered by students as one of the most pleasant associations of high school days.

Several new teachers have come into the school the last year, some taking the place of those who have gone and others to fill new positions. Their influence and personality have already pervaded the school, and they have won the deep admiration and respect of the students.

These new teachers have entered whole-heartedly into all school affairs and, with their new ideas, have brought new interests into the school work. Miss Dora Smith originated and promulgated the idea of Freshmen papers; Miss Younger has become indispensable as advisor of the Rhetorical Club and encouraged a Freshman boy to present the first puppet show in the school; Mr. Hall has created an interest and value in the music classes that will eventually create a wonderful department. Other new interests that have made the school year successful have been introduced by other new teachers.

These teachers, joining with the older ones in all school interests, have taken an active part in affairs that have helped and will continue to help make a greater school in Greater Grand Junction.

TOAST TO THE SENIORS

Here's to the Seniors, leaving old G. J. H. S.
May they reap riches and much happiness.
And we who are left, with sobbings swayed,
Will remember them when the victrola is played.
And soon in the papers their names we will read,
Proclaiming some wonderful, noteworthy deed.
So again to the Seniors their praises we'll sing.
May their class through the ages with all honor ring.

—WILDA DARRAH.

Senior Class History

In the fall of 1926 a group of students entered the Grand Junction High School. They were green but ambitious; and where there's ambition there's hope.. Clara Webb was elected class president. Many members of the class went out for extra-curricular activities with fair success.

Albert Zimmerman, track star, was class president during the Sophomore year. Greater successes greeted our athletes and scholars, and the class became better known. The change from the Freshmen assembly to the Senior assembly filled the Sophomore hearts with just pride.

Then came the Junior year—the year of almost-Seniors, the year a pupil can hold his head up among the best of them. Charles Hafey, versatile and popular athlete, was chosen as class president, and he proved his worth by guiding the class through a great year. Genevieve Roessler, a member of the Junior Class, was elected basketball captain. Members of the class proved their worth equally well along other lines, and, although they won no single distinction, they proved themselves on many occasions. The standardized rings and pins were worn for the first time by the Class of '30. The last function of the year was a Junior-Senior banquet which turned out successfully. It was a fitting farewell to the Class of '29.

The Senior year finally came—the year for which every student yearns, the happiest year of a high school student's life. Preston Walker, as class president, worked hard that the achievements of his class might go down in the history of the High School as a mark for other classes to aim at. Clifford Wilson was football captain, and Lawrence Quinn, basketball captain, while Charles Hafey was vice-captain of football, basketball and track. Although no great teams were produced, the basketball team was good enough to place second at Delta and then make the trip to Denver for the State Meet. The teams all showed excellent sportsmanship—fully as great an attribute as being able to win.

The Senior-Junior prom, on December 20, proved an excellent coming-out party for the Juniors and sealed the friendship of the two classes.

The Senior Class play was unusually well produced and was a success from every standpoint. The proceeds from the play were used to purchase a lasting gift for the school, a combination Victor radio-phonograph.

Slouch Day on April 2 was unusual with many ridiculous but well planned make-ups in evidence.

The honor students of the class were Gerald Matchett, Mildred Mapes, Carol Sharp, Gertrude Casto, Zella McCabe, Thelma Berger and Francis Jennings. These students are to be congratulated because they have kept up their share of extra-curricular activities as well as a scholarship rating. Gertrude Casto brought the O & B to a higher score in the division ratings, and Gerald Matchett was its circulation manager.

This class has left the Grand Junction High School forever, yet its members are content in knowing that they have left a record which will be used as a mark to strive for by classes which will follow.

Junior Class History

The Class of '31, under the leadership of Richard Burgess, president; Harry Peck, vice-president; Bill Vincent, treasurer, has had a successful year in scholarship, society and athletics. The year has been filled with activity and pleasure for the entire class.

In the fall, seven juniors received the coveted letter in football, while Jack McDonald won the Publix Cup for the most valuable man to his team and Ralph Irvine was high point man.

The Juniors were entertained in the gym by the Seniors at Christmas time. The gym was decorated by Christmas trees lighted with colored lights, which formed a background in keeping with the season for the many couples that enjoyed the dancing. Hembrey's Orchestra furnished good music for the debut of the Juniors.

Then the grades were announced in the Orange and Black News and the following stand high in scholarship: Lois Baughman, Jean Vandemoer, Mary DeRose, Myra Cady, Ruth Etenburn, Walter Brusse, Clara Lehman, Lena Rose Magers, Flory Mendicino, Della Mae Noe, Robert Reed.

Basketball season brought new life to the Juniors. Four Juniors were on the boys' team and eight on the girls' team. Eleanor Broadhead, with her ability for outjumping nearly every other center on the slope, was the nucleus of our girls' team.

Since spring the Juniors have been the proud wearers of the standardized pins and rings. This is the second year that the standardized pins and rings have been used.

The Juniors' big victory came when they outshone all other classes in the Interclass Track Meet; 87½ points were piled up against the 35 of the Sophomores, who were second. Athletic material should be good next year with these Junior and Sophomore victories.

The last chapter in the history of the Junior Class was climaxed by the dinner-dance given to the Seniors. There is always a note of sadness at this annual affair when both classes realize that a farewell is being given; however, the Juniors are holding their heads high and feel capable of becoming lofty Seniors next year.

Sophomore Class History

At the opening of school last fall the Sophomore Class elected as officers: Victor Walker, president; Granville Burke, vice-president;, and Jessie Leah Williams, secretary. Under their efficient guidance the class has had a most successful year.

When the football season arrived, many Sophomores were on the squad. Victor Walker, Joe Elder, Martin Quinn and Bill Stotler played and received their letters.

The work of Granville Burke and Victor Walker was of great help to the basketball team in the winning of their many victories. Burke was one of the best players on the squad. Josephine Roessler, Vesta Emerson, Jessie Leah Williams and Adne Hogan were some of the players on the girls' basketball team.

The class made a good showing in track, receiving second place in the interclass meet. Among those who took part and were outstanding are Bill Stotlar, Ralph Christman, Victor Walker and Granville Burke.

This spring, interest has centered on the Rhetorical Contest. The Sophomores had no entrants in the original oration or argument. The learned oration, however, was won by Donald Kimmel, Leland Schmidt taking second. In the dramatic oration, Helen Harrington placed second, while Audrey Ttate won third place in the humorous oration.

The Sophomores had a large representation in the band, orchestra and glee club; Jessie Leah Williams and Laurence Hoisington won honors in the individual contests during the Band Tournament.

In all the school activities the Sophomores played an important part. They attended all the games and supported both season ticket sales enthusiastically.

Freshmen Class History

In the fall of 1929 the Class of '33 entered the Grand Junction High School. We were a large class and very green, but after our first six-weeks report cards, some of the greenness wore off.

The first six weeks there were several Freshmen expelled for about a half a day for putting itching powder down the girls' backs. Then we Freshmen began fighting with the Sophomores, but this was an unequal fight as there were so many of us. On April 2 the Seniors had Slouch Day, so a few of the Freshmen decided to celebrate and have a Sneak Day that afternoon. As a result they had to spend the next day working on the school campus.

In the school activities the Freshman Class wasn't left out. Several of Miss Younger's classes formed a dramatic club which had the "Death of Julius Caesar" acted out with puppets. Two of Miss Smith's classes organized two small papers about the Myths they had been studying.

Mary Heckman, of Miss Younger's class, went to Montrose and won first place in argument, winning 28 points.

In sports the Freshmen did their share. Although none of the Freshmen were on the main teams in football or basketball, there were lots of good prospects for the following years. In track we had several good track men. Although we got last place in the Interclass Track Meet, it was because the other classes were exceptionally good.

—ROBERT WALKER.

GRADUATES OF GRAND JUNCTION HIGH SCHOOL, 1929–30, WHO ATTENDED THE ROSS BUSINESS COLLEGE LAST YEAR

Ross Business College

Any student with ten standard credits or twelve general credits has the privilege of attending Ross Business College on the same terms as he would high school. Upon satisfactory completion of the courses, a commercial diploma is awarded them. These credits, of course, are not accepted as college entrance credits, and so those who finish their business course and still desire to attend college take a post-graduate course at the high school the following year.

For nineteen years the college has prepared young men and women for the business world. The courses have grown until work carrying both high school and college credit is offered students who enroll.

Ross Business College is a highly credited institution, and enrollment has increased steadily for the last several years.

Members of this year's class who attended the college are:

Football

At the beginning of the season the prospects for a winning team did not look so bright, due to the fact that we had only four letter-men back. But, fortunately, we had four transfers from other schools, who had made letters. This gave us a squad of eight with experience to build upon.

In reality the Tigers had a successful season. They lost the final game to Montrose, who won the championship. The other game lost was to the Junior College, but, as this was not a conference game, it did not count against us. That gave us a good season with only one conference defeat. But, unfortunately, Captain Wilson was declared ineligible on account of the five-year attendance rule. As he had played in the Olathe and Fruita games, which we had won by wide margins, we were forced to forfeit those contests. These forfeits prevented us from winning second place in the Western Slope Conference.

The schedule of games follows:

Tigers	2	Moab, Utah	2
Tigers	33	Rifle	0
Tigers	0	Junior College	19
Tigers	39	Fruita	0
Tigers	33	Olathe	12
Tigers	7	Fruita	0
Tigers	7	Paonia	0
Tigers	26	Cedaredge	0
Tigers	6	Delta	6
Tigers	0	Montrose	27

At the close of the season a committee of men interested in athletics chose Jack McDonald as the most valuable player. He received the Mesa Theatre trophy. The Scrub Club chose Charles Hafey as the most valuable player to his team. He received a "G" blanket.

First Row—Irvine, Hafey, Brusse, Fenner, McElvain, Walker, Templeton.
Second Row—McDonald, Quinn (Captain), Burke.

Basketball

The 1929-30 season was one of the most successful the school has ever experienced, successful in so far as development is concerned. Practice, three days a week, was started for those not out for football, during the middle of October. This squad was composed of about seventy-five candidates. Then, when the football season was ended the first of December, fifty more candidates were added to the squad. This was the greatest turn-out in the history of the school.

In order to thin out the squad, two games were scheduled after ten days of practice. These games were played on the same night against the Alumni and Appleton High School. Approximately thirty players were used in these two games; one game was lost and one won. But these served as a great help in determining the final line-up for the remaining practice games in December.

In spite of the unusually large number that turned out, the team did not give the appearance of going very far. Most of the men were too small. Throughout the month of December, in the practice games, the team looked very poor. All of the practice games were lost with the exception of one.

Then in January, when the first conference game was played, a victory was won. This seemed to have the desired effect. The Tigers won every conference game on the regular schedule. This excellent record won them the right to enter the Western Slope Tournament at Delta. The team improved with every game. They made up for their lack of size in speed and fine team work.

Gunnison High School was doped to win the tournament without much trouble, by most of the experts. This was due to their experienced players. But the Tigers upset the dope twice. They were expected to lose to Montrose in the first game, but won instead. They then defeated New Castle and entered the semi-finals against Gunnison on Saturday morning. The Western Slope felt that the Tigers didn't have a chance, yet again they upset the dope and played the best game of the year to defeat Gunnison. It was a case of pure fight and excellent playing that won against a team that was handicapped by overconfidence. This victory put the Tigers in the finals against Gunnison Saturday night. The tournament was run on a two-game elimination basis. That made it necessary for the two teams to meet again in the finals. Gunnison won both games and the championship. Both teams earned the right to represent the Western Slope at the State Tournament in Denver.

This tournament was held the following week. The Tigers left for Denver on Tuesday night. They arrived there Wednesday and spent the afternoon practicing on the Manual High School floor. The tournament was held in the City Auditorium. The first game for the Tigers was against Rocky Ford, which was the champion of the Arkansas Valley League. This game was won by Rocky Ford. The defeat sent the Tigers into the consolation tournament. Their next game was with Haxtun on the following day. Haxtun won this game. The committee in charge of the tournament handled everything efficiently, and the boys enjoyed the trip, which was of much benefit to them.

The record for the season was 17 games won and 8 lost. The Tigers made an average of better than 32 points a game in their conference schedule and at the same time held their opponents to 11 points a game.

The standing of the team at the end of the season was second place on the Western Slope and one of sixteen teams that competed in the State Tournament.

Those who received letters were the following: Captain Lawrence Quinn, Vice-Captain Charles Hafey, Walter Brusse, Granville Burke, Arnold Fenner, Ralph Irvine, Jack McDonald, Carl McElvain, Russel Sisac, William Stotlar, Edwin Templeton, Victor Walker.

At the Western Slope Tournament Charles Hafey was chosen on the All-Slope team as a guard and Granville Burke was chosen as a forward.

First Row—Mrs. Holt, Howell, H. Emerson, Broadhead, Jenkins, O'Key.
Second Row—Hogan, Anderson, Moore (Captain), G. Roessler, J. Roessler.
Third Row—Smith, V. Emerson, Kreuger, Williams, Jones.

Girls' Basketball Squad

The girls' basketball season opened with about seventy-five girls out for practice. The selection of the first team proved to be difficult, since there were eight letter girls back on the squad, as well as a large number of good players. To give all the girls an opportunity to play, a great many substitutes were used.

The conference was larger this year and presented some formidable opponents. Rifle, a new team in the conference, won both games played with us. Glenwood also proved to be too strong for the Tigresses. These games eliminated the Tigresses from the Delta Tournament.

After the conference games were played, the Girls' League sponsored interclass games that proved to be even more of an attraction than the regular games. Sharp competition arose between the Junior and Senior teams, the Juniors finally winning by a small margin.

Tiger Track Team

Ninety-four boys turned out for track this year. Among this number were four letter-men —Kelly, Walker, Bullock and Hafey (captain).

The annual interclass meet, which was held on March 29, was won by the Juniors, who secured 85½ points, the Sophomores were second with 38 points, the Seniors third with 33½ points and the Freshmen last with 9 points. Four new records were established: Victor Walker broke the old record of 10 feet 6 inches in the pole vault by vaulting 10 feet 7½ inches. Clint Kelly ran the 100-yard dash in 10.3 to break the old mark of 10.5. Robert Carter threw the discus 112 feet 10 inches to break the old mark of 112 feet. Clint Kelly ran the 440 in 58.3 to break the old mark of 59.1.

The next week the Tigers won a dual meet with Fruita High School. The scores were Grand Junction 72, Fruita 49.

On April 18 Montrose High School won a dual meet from the Tigers by the score of 73 to 59.

These dual meets served to put the team in good condition for the annual Western Slope Conference Meet at Montrose on May 3. The following Tigers were entered in the meet: Kelly, Rhoades, Walker, McDonald, Hafey, Rood, Harvey, McCluskey, Hoisington and Langston. Of these ten men only one Senior was on the squad.

The result of the meet was:

Montrose 46½, Delta, 33½, Fruita 26½, Paonia 25, Grand Junction 21½, Gunnison 10, Hotchkiss 5, Cedaredge 7½, Olathe 0.

At the Junior College Relay Meet the next Saturday the scores of the four teams entering were: Delta 25, Grand Junction 13, Fruita 7 and De Beque 0. Victor Walker broke the Junior College Meet record and also the Western Colorado record by vaulting 11 feet 4½ inches. The Delta relay team also broke the meet record in the 880-yard relay by running it in 1:36.7.

The Orange and Black News and The Tiger

The past year may well be remembered as one of the best in the history of the Orange and Black News and the Tiger, the school publications.

This year is the first time that the editor-in-chief was elected out of a journalism class and worked in harmony with the class throughout the year, choosing class members for the staff.

One of the first improvements that gained value for the paper was the change in the name from the Orange and Black to the Orange and Black News. Although it was not a great change, it helped to increase the value of the publication and gained 5 points in the Boulder contest.

Another marked improvement was a change of type on the front page.

Several investigations during the winter about the heating system and the building program later in the year brought high praise from Boulder as showing study and careful work in service to the school. This year at the annual contest for high school newspapers at Boulder, the Orange and Black News placed second in its division and brought the score from 68 to 85.5. The staff was greatly pleased with the praise the judges gave the editorial page.

The support given the paper and annual by the advertisers and by the Daily Sentinel has been excellent, and such cooperation has been greatly appreciated.

Besides writing the paper and the Tiger, the staff has entered outside writing contests conducted by the Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society for High School Journalists. The staff has sent contest articles to all the quarterly contests, winning two prizes in the Western Division. Jess Ellis won a third prize in editorial writing, and Jack McDonald a fourth prize in an ad writing contest. Wilda Darrah won a state prize in a contest conducted by the Magazine World. The staff has entered other contests, also; and, although they do not know that they have won anything, have nevertheless become interested in such work; and this interest may eventually bring honors to the school.

The Tiger this year adopted the monument as its theme, running a tint and border which adds to the beauty of the book.

The staff has worked to make the annual in every way a year-book for the whole school as well as the Senior Class. In doing this they feel that they have given to the school a publication worthy of keeping and one that will be a pleasure to have in future years.

The past year was in every respect a successful one for the Girls' League.

Jean McDougall, president through both semesters, was assisted by a council consisting of two representatives from each class. These girls were appointed by the executive committee and adviser, and a different council was chosen for each semester.

The main purpose of the council was to promote and provide good programs for meetings. One of the best examples was the Mothers' Tea. The visiting mothers were entertained with an excellent program, one feature being a Fashion Show which not only exhibited present styles but also those of a century ago. The championship game of the Girls' Interclass Basketball Tournament was also staged at this time.

Other excellent programs were those put on by the different classes. The Freshmen won the banner for presenting the best league program, and the Sophomores followed with a close second.

The Big and Little Sister Party at the first of the year promoted friendship among the girls and was one of the most successful of its kind ever staged.

In cooperation with the Boys' League, the girls have sponsored various activities. The league plays and Parent Day were both new and were highly successful. The two leagues worked together during the Western Slope Band Tournament, the girls helping to find rooms, ushering at the theatres and keeping an information bureau at the high school.

The league sponsored various other activities; as usual assisting at the Western Slope Teachers' Convention, serving all the visiting and home teams after each basketball game, promoting the Red Cross Drive in which all the Junior and Senior girls took part. A total of $156 was taken in by the girls during this drive. This is the best record the league has ever made in that work. Those who participated in the sale were given National Red Cross Honor Certificates.

The Christmas Seal Drive was again successfully conducted by the girls, and on Christmas Eve they made their annual visit to the County Poor Farm.

The Basketball and Tennis Tournaments were activities that were successfully carried out.

Perhaps more than ever before, the girls of the High School have joined together in all activities and have created a spirit of good-will and friendliness that will make the league a lasting and valuable organization forever.

GARTH HALL

Boys' League

FIRST SEMESTER		SECOND SEMESTER
President	Garth Hall	President	Garth Hall
Vice-President	Clint Kelly	Vice-Pres.	Edwin Templeton
Secretary-Treas.	Victor Walker	Secretary-Treas.	Bill Stotlar

The activities of the Boys' League during 1929-1930 have been more extensive and far reaching than ever before in the league's history. The league, organized in 1925, has grown until now it is an important factor in the training of boys for later life. With fewer clubs functioning actively in the high school, the league has taken up the work formerly done by them and has done remarkably well.

Garth Hall, as president, has made an enviable record and one which will be hard to excel by any president to come. His efforts for the improvement of the league and betterment of the boys won him a unanimous re-election for the second semester, while Mr. Roe, as faculty advisor, seems to have a position as long as he wishes, through his untiring efforts on behalf of the league.

Regular meetings have been held twice each sextile, a variety of programs being presented. Some of these were musical, some athletic and some literary. Taken as a whole, the programs were better than usual.

Early in the year, the Boys' League, in conjunction with the Girls' League, staged a series of plays, which were successful financially as well as dramatically. These plays were largely responsible for making the league self-supporting.

A big achievement of the year was the holding of a "Smokeless Smoker" for the boys and their dads. It was very successful and will be an annual affair.

Another forward step was the organization of a fire brigade, drilled in the use of the new extinguishers and prepared for any emergency that might arise.

The Boys' League also fostered and supervised the night rallies and snake walks to arouse pep for football games. The responsibility for the housing of visiting band members during the Band Tournament was readily undertaken and successfully executed by the league.

The last major activities sponsored by the Boys' League were an interclass baseball series and a tennis tournament which was held in conjunction with the Girls' League.

All in all, the Boys' League has just completed its biggest year, and the boys of the High School can expect great things from it in the future.

GENEVIEVE ROESSLER

Student Body Association

President ..... Genevieve Roessler
Vice-President ..... Clyde Moslander
Secretary ..... Martha Williams

The activities of the Student Body Association are under the general control of the Students of the High School, with all actions governed by a carefully written constitution.

Two departments that are very important are the Executive Committee and Home Room Council.

The Home Room Council is represented from every room the second period, and there every student is given a chance to give his or her opinion on school affairs and problems. The council has no authority to render a decision final, but a recommendation can be made to the Executive Committee for action. The decision of the Executive Committee on any school matter is final.

Another useful branch of activity was a Program Committee, which arranged all the programs for the assemblies and pep meetings and produced very worth-while and enjoyable programs for the students.

This year, in place of the Piggleteria, which was becoming slightly monotonous, were substituted three one-act plays, which proved quite successful from a financial point and were very enjoyable to their audiences.

The Student Body Association this year tried a new plan for season tickets. Instead of selling a ticket at the first of school which would permit the owner to attend all school functions throughout the year, semester tickets were sold. These tickets were sold each semester, and in this way the initial expense was divided up and did not come at one time.

The excellent pep meetings and the spirit with which activities were sponsored attested to the value and success with which the Student Body Association has met throughout the past year.

Rhetorical Team

At the annual Track, Rhetorical and Music Contest held at Montrose May 1, 2 and 3, the Grand Junction Rhetorical Team captured the trophy, winning it just in time to keep Montrose from taking it permanently.

The honors this year were well divided between the schools that participated in the event. Competition was keener than ever.

This was the sixth victory for Grand Junction since 1919, when the first team went to Montrose. The team from Grand Junction consisted of Mary Heckman, Argument; Donald Kimmel, Learned Oration; Helen Emerson, Original Oration; Jack McDonald, Dramatic Declamation, and Faye Sheldon, Humorous Reading. It is with unusual pleasure that we should have a Freshman in the Argument who won first place. Mary Heckman has a charm and ability that we are all proud of. Jack McDonald won the other points that gave us first place, winning first in dramatic declamation.

A new judge this year, John E. Lawson of Denver University, judged the contests and paid a high compliment to the meet, saying that no place in the state had as large a rhetorical meet; also that the meet surpassed any of its kind he had ever seen.

The Band

President_____Raymond Eddy
Secretary-Treasurer_____Bryce Simpson

The band this year has been peppy, good sports and achieved much. We are proud of all the members who have appeared so often on school programs, at parades, football games and assemblies. Raymond Eddy was elected president of this large organization, and his cooperation with Mr. Hall has shown in the splendid spirit of the band.

Grand Junction High School Band placed third in the Class A band contest that was held April 27 and at which our band was host. There was less than a point's difference between the Price (Utah), Montrose and Grand Junction Bands; the scores were 89 3/26, 88 23/26 and 88 5/26 respectively.

The Tiger Band made an exceptional showing in the solo contest by taking six firsts and one second in Class A.

Already plans are being made for a bigger and better band next year. New uniforms will be purchased, consisting of black broadcloth trousers, heavy-weight orange sweaters with a black lyre on the front, and orange overseas caps. The addition of these uniforms will make possible seven different combinations that may be worn on any occasion and at any time of year.

Orchestra

The High School Symphony Orchestra has completed a profitable year and a busy one. Their practice and concert work have been heavy because of the fact that most of the orchestra members are band members also.

The calendar for the year has included the music for High School programs, the Senior play, "The Toreadors" (operetta), High School plays, May Day Festival and Commencement.

Future plans for the orchestra are even more stupendous than past achievements. Mr. Hall, director, has in mind the following improvements:

1. Beginning with the summer, practice for thirty violins will be started.

2. A seventy-five-piece orchestra will be achieved.

3. With the fall term, 1930, it is hoped a new faculty member will be added to the music staff, who will teach violin and public school music and coach the girls' glee club.

Jazz Orchestra

In addition to the band and orchestra, a jazz orchestra was organized to meet the needs of a small orchestra to play at assemblies, luncheons and programs where the large orchestra could not be used. This orchestra has the same instrumentation as all popular hotel and radio orchestras over the country.

The instrumentation is as follows: Trumpets, Bob Reed and Roscoe Giffin; Trombone, Rex Gigax; Bass, Laurence Hoisington; Banjo, James Eidson; Flute, Eleanor Day; Drums and Marimba, Willis White; Violin, Emma Oberto; Saxophone and Clarinet, Leslie Day, Gerald Kinsman and Robert George; Piano, Arloa Allen.

The Glee Club presented a very colorful and lovely operetta, "The Toreadors." It was directed by Mr. Hall and the Symphony Orchestra handled all the music score for the production.

Lack of finding a practice hour that was suitable, the Glee Club sang at Montrose with only four practices. This experience plus a regular practice hour next year should produce a very fine Glee Club.

First Row—Kupel, Hall, Schmidt, Heckman, Younger (Adviser), Craig, Gavette, Sheldon.
Second Row—Gigax, Cheedle, Kimmel, Emerson, McDonald.

Rhetorical Club

President——Jack McDonald
Vice-President——Carol Sharp
Secretary——Jean Vandemoer
Adviser——Miss Younger

Only twelve students were present at the first meeting of the Rhetorical Club this year, but it took only a few weeks to arouse interest in the organization. Later, it became one of the largest clubs in the school.

The club entered wholeheartedly into the preliminary contest from which a team is picked to send to the Rhetorical Meet at Montrose. A larger number participated in the event than there has been for several years, and, since the team placed first at Montrose, the club members feel that they have done well.

Senior Class Play

"Hurricane Hal"

March 22, the Senior Class play, "Hurricane Hal," was presented at the Avalon Theatre to a full house.

The play was a collegiate comedy, directed by Miss June N. McAuliffe, and the cast was very well chosen so as to have each character portrayed in the best possible manner.

Hal Miller, the perennial Senior, has a habit of falling in love with undergraduate beauties, and, rather than be separated from the objects of his infatuation, he decides to flunk and stay at Wesleyan another year.

At last he really falls in love, but the girl proves to be a Senior, and Hal's grades are down. The play shows Hal's struggles in keeping his grades up and also in keeping Kay, his sweetheart.

The members of the cast caught the spirit of the college life, and the play went over "big" with the audience because it was interesting, comical and typically collegiate.

The Avalon was filled to capacity, and the Senior Class was rewarded generously by the financial returns.

The class used this money to purchase a Victor combination radio-phonograph which they gave to the school as their gift.

League Plays

The Boys' and Girls' Leagues, under the auspices of the Student Body Association, staged three one-act plays at the High School auditorium December 6 and 7. These plays were directed by Miss June McAuliffe, who also chose the casts from among some of the talented students of the school.

Since these plays were the first of the dramatic activities of the school year, they were, consequently, rather experimental; but, judging by the fine performance and record attendance, there can be no doubt about the success of these plays.

The plays consisted of two comedies and a dramatic fancy. The comedies were "Rosalie," by Max Maurey, and "The Teeth of the Gift Horse," by Margaret Cameron. "Dream Faces," the dramatic fancy, was written by Wynn Miller.

The casts were short, the entire number of characters of the three plays being but twelve.

Between acts, Mr. Hall and the High School Orchestra furnished the music.

The total amount taken in by the plays was $145, with a profit of $55. While this profit may seem small, it really is unusually good because the admission charged was so small. The profit was divided between the two leagues, each league using its share to help out in future programs.

The interest and support which was shown by the school in these plays made it encouraging to put on more productions of the same type.

Police Force

Each year since its organization four years ago the High School Police Force has increased its service to the school and to the town until now it is one of the most useful of High School activities. It was originally under the control of the Boys' League, but it has grown in importance to such an extent that it is now a department in itself.

The year just completed proved a banner year in all respects for the force. Henry Brown as chief was a very excellent officer, and his two lieutenants, Louis Burch and Edwin Yeager, were no less effective. Mr. Roe, special police officer and representative of the faculty, was a most efficient manager.

The force successfully handled all football games and rallies, basketball games, track meets and the band tourney, as well as some eight or ten entertainments held in the gymnasium. The cooperation of the Student Body was helpful to the force in their duties.

All of the members of this year's force were outfitted with special caps, new badges and coats. The personnel was carefully chosen and all the members measured up to the qualities of good character before they were put on the force.

Although much was accomplished by the police force this year, there is much yet for it to accomplish in years to come. This may be accomplished through leadership and cooperation such as was had this year.

Puppet Show

"Et tu, Brute!" "Friends, Romans, countrymen"——and many other familiar passages from Shakespeare's immortal "Julius Caesar" were spoken anew this year in one of Miss Younger's Freshmen English classes, but in a decidedly new manner.

Heretofore, Freshmen English classes had to study this play and visualize for themselves the tragic and unforgetable scenes in the play. This year they repeated those famous lines of Antony and Caesar in a darkened room, with puppets enacting the parts.

This puppet show was the work of a boy who bids fair to become a second Tony Sarg or Morris Gest—Wesley Ramsey. Wesley constructed the stage, made the puppets, perfected the settings, the lighting effect and engineered the production of the play. Before Wesley staged the puppet show, he had become interested in that line of work and had set up for himself different types of stages. After working with the puppets on these stages, he presented an old English play, "The Granville Murder Case." After that he made many shows, and finally conceived the idea of putting "Julius Caesar" on as a puppet show for the English class.

The stage and settings, as well as the lighting effects, were in keeping with the play. Different colored lights were used in representing different times of the day. The puppets were made of wood, with jointed arms and legs. Long Roman togas clad the forms of the wooden actors.

The students in the class read the various roles in the play, while Wesley was assisted "backstage" by Joe Harvey and Bob Washington.

The students and teacher—in fact, all who witnessed the production of the play—agreed that a better conception of the play was gained by this show than by reading the play.

BOAR KILLED BY HERO

Today Jupus left and went to Olympus. While Adonis was all alone a wild boar, huge and ferocious, had been roused by the dogs and came before him. With fierceness in his heart he rushed forward and thrust the spear into the boar, but only wounded him. The beast charged headlong and buried its tusks savagely in the side of Adonis, causing his death.

HERCULES FINISHES TWELFTH AND LAST TASK

Today Hercules finished the twelfth and last task for his cousin, King Eurystheus. He is glad to be done with his tasks and hopes Juno has forgiven him. In his pursuit of the Arcadian stag he flew upon Stymphalus chained to a rock. Being now the firegiver was suffering he set him free.

TOLL OF TWO LIVES TAKEN LAST NIGHT AS RESCUE OF STORM SMITH REACHED HIGH POINT

By Miss Hellispont

Young Leander, who had been secretly meeting Hero for some little time at the side of Hero's home, again attempted to swim the channel last night. He went, supposedly toward the young lady's dwelling, but that his bowling during the storm was not purished. His body was washed ashore this morning at the very point where Hero was anxiously watching. Overcome with grief she threw herself in the sea and drowned.

ESCULAPIUS STRUCK BY BOLT

Aesculapius the wonderful physician was struck by one of Jupiter's bolts yesterday. It is believed that Jupiter feared Aesculapius was becoming too great because he could sometimes revive the dead. The people as a whole will feel the loss of his great skill very much. It is said that Aesculapius will be placed among the stars.

CHIRON DIES AMIDST HOST OF PETS

Chiron, teacher of the king of Thessaly, was approached by a bull this morning while wandering in the gardens with his classical maidens. The maidens fled, terrified of a spell that upon her charm stayed upon the bull. He heard her cry for help and offered her his sword which, when it got behind the bull stayed there for her. When he reached for his sword it vanished. He ran after the bull but tired in a short moments to the other side of the bull. Chiron rushed to her assistance but by the time he reached it vanished.

THE TROJAN WAR ENDS WITH THE DOWNFALL OF TROY!

The once beautiful city of Troy was in smoldering ruins this morning as the Greek soldiers, loaded heavily with the many spoils of the war, embarked for their native land.

The war for some time has been waging first with the Trojans then with the Greeks winning. Many of the most noted heroes of both Greece and Italy have fallen in the blood-stained battles which have been waging for the past ten years.

The Greeks have been praying to Minerva for wise council to determine what might be done to trick the Trojans into a trap. Yesterday the prayers were seemingly answered when an old disabled warrior suggested that a great wooden horse be made with space inside to hold several warriors. He believed that in leaving this horse and breaking camp that the Trojans would take the horse in their walls as a trophy of the war. The Londres accepted the idea and the soldiers set to work on the horse which when done was set just outside the gates. The Greek troops camp fled and sailed around a sheltering cliff to wait till night fell before they returned to help their fellow men who were in the horse to capture the city.

The Trojans took the horse inside the city just as was expected. In the middle of the night when everyone was deep in sleep a carefully concealed door which the soldiers had made in the horse opened and out stepped twenty armed men.

Running to the gates they opened them to the army which was waiting to rush in and sack the town and thus carry the inhabitants as slaves.

The Trojans had not done well since their leader Hector was killed.

The number dead is not yet known. The Greeks are bringing home many of their dead to bury them in their own land.

PARENTS AND THE SCHOOL

King Polydectes has commanded the kid Perseus to bring to him the head of the Gorgon Medusa. This task if performed correctly will be the greatest, or among the greatest, in history. Everyone is quite sure of his victory because of his bravery and the help of the three sisters.

Freshmen Papers

While studying "Classic Myths," the Freshmen English classes G and X realized that these accounts of heroic deeds furnished even better material for newspaper publication than the thrilling events which are daily featured in our modern papers.

Each class elected its staff and work on myth papers began. Those who were not on the staffs were appointed special reporters. Every department had much news to publish, for had not Icarus completed a flight which was parallel if not superior to Lindbergh's? A search for the kidnaped Proserpina must be launched, and propaganda against future Trojan wars printed.

News items, advertisements, society notes and sport items were written up, read and criticised in class, then re-written for final publication. Future artists and poets submitted their accomplishments for the staffs' approval.

After the articles had been prepared, each pupil made a plan for the paper and chose a name to submit for the approval of the class. The plans were examined and discussed, a name chosen, and then the editor-in-chief, with his assistant, selected the best ideas from each plan and combined them into the final one.

The material, with plans, were then taken to the "printer," Miss Benge, who prepared them for publication.

Ag Club

COLORADO STATE CHAPTER NO. 2

The Ag Club was organized in 1919 and has been the pride and joy of many a vocational Ag student. Many of the old past-grads still return to the various contests and social functions of the club. The club affiliated with the state and national organization of high school students taking Vocational Agriculture in the fall of 1929. This nation-wide organization is known as the "Future Farmers of America," of which Grand Junction enjoys Charter No. 2 on the Colorado State Future Farmers.

The chief activities of the club are the Ag Harvest Festival, the Ag Contest and the Ag Picnic. This year's Harvest Festival was one especially to be remembered for its fun and frolic in the music room. Among the seven schools competing in this year's Ag Contest, which was held at Grand Junction, our team placed third with four high men in four of the events, which was a very creditable showing. A new feature of the contest was a banquet held in the evening following the contest, together with an oratorical contest, at which time all of the winnings were announced and prizes awarded. The Ag Picnic was held May 23 and was enjoyed by all those attending.

J-R Club

FIRST SEMESTER

President_____Preston Walker
Vice-President_ Clifford Wilson
Secretary-Treas._ James Porter
Sergt.-at-Arms_____Clint Kelly

The J-R Club had an excellent year during 1929-1930. Although some of the extra activities of the club were cramped, many new members were admitted who proved of value to the club, and a new spirit of helpfulness was instilled that should prove helpful in future years.

The club failed to donate the ribbons for the Montrose Track and Rhetorical Meet due to an oversight of a Montrose official. The custom of giving these ribbons has been an annual event for the club to handle, and this custom, it is hoped, will be resumed next year.

SECOND SEMESTER

President_____ Clifford Wilson
Vice-President__ Charles Hafey
Secy.-Treas.____Lawrence Quinn
Sergt.-at-Arms__ Gilbert Baylis

Plans were made for repairing the Dewey Memorial in Hawthorne Park. This memorial to Miss Dewey was erected by the club several years ago and is now in need of some repair.

The club gave two dances for its members and their friends—one on December 13 and the other on May 16. Both were very enjoyable affairs.

The following were voted into the club during the year: Arthur Avi, Vernon Bullock, Joe Mulvihill, Mort Quinn, Walter Brusse, Paul Schneible, Edward Vaughn, Gerald Matchett, Thomas Smith, Harold Jenkins, Clyde Moslander, Edwin Templeton, Bill Vincent, Jess Ellis, Bob Carter.

A New and Greater FAIR Store

Forty years in business. It's a long lane but we're not turning on our 40th anniversary . . . The Fair greets you with a newly remodeled store . . . to better serve our ever growing clientele.

For forty years . . . Grand Junction has looked to this store for style-right wearables.

The newer and greater Fair greets the graduates of 1930 and wishes them a bounteous life filled with The Fair's own motto . . . SERVICE.

WESTERN COLORADO'S DOMINANT STORE The Fair THE LEADER FOR FORTY YEARS

The Job Printing Department of The Daily Sentinel

has again had the pleasure of issuing the Grand Junction High School Annual . . . "The Tiger."

We are proud to have had the privilege of issuing the "Orange and Black," "The Tiger" and other publications continuously the past eighteen years.

It bespeaks confidence in the ability of our workmen in the mechanical department, as well as acknowledgement of the fact that The Daily Sentinel lends assistance in every way possible each year toward the success of the Grand Junction High School.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF '30

THERE IS WORK AND PROSPERITY AHEAD . . . . . WE ARE RECEIVED into the abundant embrace of a new decade. The band strikes up in a major key.

The thirties, overflowing with untold secrets for those who hope and strive to fulfill their hopes. You young men and young women are just entering the greatest field of all-that of seeking your future careers. You should have a definite goal to aim at, then have the stick-to-it-ness to get there.

This new world is full of golden opportunity. The large industrial corporations are following a program of expansion. The railroads and banks are notably sound. Methods of production and distribution are constantly improving. Standards of living are being constantly raised. There are the facts. But you must reach out and grasp yours. "You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink."

Just remember, "that you are where you are, by what you are, where are you?"

OUTSTANDING FEATURES OF THE ROSS BUSINESS COLLEGE

1. It has had twenty-five years of honorable existence and constant growth.
2. Its graduates always get especially good positions and attractive salaries.
3. Very strong courses to meet every demand of business—some of them short and quickly completed and some of them long and of college rank.
4. High school graduation requirement to college department; no entrance requirements to other departments.
5. Located in a college center of culture where education, morality, and religion are held at a premium.
6. Both high school and college credit can be earned in its courses. We offer a two-year college course in Commerce, Business Administration and Accounting.
7. Low rates and living expenses. Being located in a medium-sized city enables its students to secure board and room at a minimum rate.
8. Well-educated and forceful teachers, each a specialist with good teaching ability and good character.
9. A large per cent of its attendance comes through the direct influence of its former students. A silent but convincing proof as to the popularity of our work.
10. It has both a business and college spirit.
11. Ambitious, intelligent, forward-looking young men and women will find in this school a cordial welcome together with an opportunity to make the most of their time and ability.

NOTHING CAN SUPPLANT

QUALITY

Nothing can take the place of Quality here, because there is no element in our Plan of merchandising that is quite so important as Quality. Our idea of quality is a brand of quality that definitely fits into YOUR idea of Service. There can be no service without quality. WE CONGRATULATE YOU

Accept not only our congratulations upon having successfully fulfilled the rigid requirements of our Board of Education, but accept, too, our best wishes for a happy, successful and prosperous future.

As a word of friendly advice, and yet some may say "a trifle selfishly," but no less truly, permit us to say that in the pursuit of whatever business you may follow, you will find being neatly and becomingly dressed a valuable business asset.

Sincerely,

GREATER GRAND JUNCTION

An Educational Center With a Metropolitan Atmosphere

Social Life

The population of Grand Junction is 14,000 and naturally the social advantages are many. In addition to the school life, there are splendid opportunities for a wholesome social life. The church, the different clubs and the many fraternal organizations all cater to young and old alike. Grand Junction is a metropolitan city in every sense of the word.

Sports

Two gymnasiums, two golf courses, numerous tennis courts, indoor swimming pool and outdoor natatorium, and all sorts of other recreational opportunities are available.

There are numerous teams for sports, such as football, basketball, tennis and track in their appropriate season. A fine athletice field and stadium are kept in excellent condition by the City of Grand Junction at all times.

Cost of Living

Anyone can live very economically in Grand Junction. It is the second largest wholesale center of the state, and competition in retail foods, clothing and other supplies is keen enough to keep prices at a minimum. The large locally owned stores and the numerous chain stores give the thrifty, quality and economical buyers an ideal opportunity to purchase merchandise at prices within reach. Grand Junction is a shopping center equal to Denver or Salt Lake City.

Theatres

With two large theatres, with stages of a capacity to accommodate the most elaborate of productions, Grand Junction offers the finest of entertainment. The city is midway between Denver and Salt Lake City and is therefore a convenient stopping point for the best attractions of the country.

The Climate

The altitude is low for Colorado—only 4,600 feet. For that reason the four seasons are well proportioned and of about equal length. There are no storms and agreeable weather prevails.

Highways are surfaced in every direction and are open for automobile traffic throughout the year.

The growing season of six months is sufficiently long to produce abundantly a large variety of crops, and the climate is so free from extremes that the extensive fruit crop has never suffered serious loss.

Churches

All the leading church denominations have large organizations in Grand Junction. Modern, large church edifices, representing an investment of a half million dollars, are equipped to carry on a complete program of religious education.

Transportation

Grand Junction is situated on the main line of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad Company, with branch lines leading to all railway points in Southern Colorado. It is the junction of the Colorado and Gunnison rivers, and a converging point of the main transcontitnental highways. The finest of all-year highways lead to Grand Junction from all directions.

Recreation

Grand Junction is rapidly assuming the lead as the tourist center of the state. Visitors to Colorado are beginning to realize that to really see Colorado it is necessary to cross the Continental Divide, and that our highways are excellent and safe.

Grand Junction is the gateway to the Grand Mesa, world's largest flat-top mountain and leading recreational area of the Rocky Mountain Region.

Colorado National Monument, the most accessible of all National Monuments, but a short distance from the city, includes the most impressive specimens of erosion to be found in America.

Trips in every direction from Grand Junction include scenery in large variety and of magnificence unequalled anywhere.
